3 Facilitative Leadership@ Tapping the Power of Participation

The latest developments in leadership practice encourage us to think of leadership as service, to respect the value and diversity that each person brings and to share power and decision-making. And in order to build lasting and sustainable peace we need to be able to engage and work with a range of people to build a vision of what a shared society could look like. The challenge though is putting this into practice! Facilitative Leadership@ provides an opportunity to learn specific skills and tools that show us how to do this.

Benefits for Participants

This workshop is an opportunity for you to explore the link between leadership and participation, and builds on your every day challenges as a basis for practice. You will learn to set and maintain strategic direction while enabling people to participate, take risks, innovate and own the outcomes. As a result of your attendance your organisation or community will experience greater success, more ownership and alignment, deeper relationships and levels of commitment and more effective participation.

Facilitative Leadership is built around seven key leadership practices. These are:

- Share an Inspiring Vision - communicating your vision in a way that inspires and enrolls team members in its pursuit
- Focus on Results, Process and Relationships - recognising that success is measured across three dimensions; results (achievement of goals), process (how the work gets done) and relationships (cultivating trust and respect in the community/workplace)
- Seek Maximum Appropriate Involvement - building commitment and improving the quality of decisions by getting maximum appropriate stakeholder involvement in the decision making process
- Facilitate Agreement - strategies and skills for keeping team meetings on track and gaining consensus from stakeholders with disparate points of view and needs; an understanding of how leaders add value to group processes without necessarily having to be content experts or decision makers
- Design Pathways to Action - a collaborative project planning tool that maps out a series of conversations and their objectives to help teams (stakeholders) move from their current situation to their desired future state
- Coach for Performance - a coaching model that focuses on how managers and employees share responsibility for the success of coaching interventions and results not only in performance improvement, but also in an employee with an increased sense of personal satisfaction with his/her work
- Celebrate Accomplishment - building an environment which recognises the contributions of employees by conveying appreciation and value for them and which acknowledges them in a meaningful way.

In this workshop, you will specifically learn to:

- Create a vision for a shared society and enrol others in its pursuit
- Lead collaborative planning and problem solving discussions
- Decide who should be involved in making decisions & how to involve them
- Coach and inspire others to perform at their best
- Design meetings, project plans and change strategies with concrete milestones and clear accountability that people understand and support
- Consider the three dimensions of success: results, process, and relationships
- Celebrate accomplishment in authentic and motivating ways

When you complete the Facilitative Leadership® workshop, you will have greater confidence in your ability to deal with difficult situations, advocate for change and lead collaborative processes. You will be able to make and implement decisions more quickly and have greater influence over the possibilities of building a shared society.

Who Should Attend:

- Anyone playing a leadership and/or peace building role in their community, group or organisation, including:
  - Directors and Managers of organisations
  - Community Development Workers
  - Community Activists
  - Good Relations Officers
  - Team or project leaders

4 Invitation from Jude Kelly OBE, Artistic Director, Southbank Centre

Southbank Centre's Women of the World Festival is coming to Derry~Londonderry from November 8th -10th 2013 as part of the City of Culture 2013 celebrations.

WOW launched in March 2011 to coincide with the centenary of International Women's Day. Hundreds of women and men of all kinds have come to the think ins to help in the planning of the festival, which has meant that each year Southbank Centre has been able to build on the successes of the previous years.

This is an invitation for you to join me for one of the think ins this year so that I can hear your thoughts and ideas for what the Women of the World festival in Derry~Londonderry in November 2013 and beyond could and should be about, what you would like to see represented, and what in your opinion are the most relevant topics for women today.

Southbank Centre, in partnership with Culture Company, is holding three separate think in sessions at the following times:

Friday June 28th 2013	2pm – 5pm	Verbal Arts Centre, Bishop Street
Saturday June 29th 2013	10am – 1pm	Tower Hotel, Butcher Street
Saturday June 29th 2013	2pm – 5pm	U3A, Gransha Park, Waterside

The sessions are open to both men and women. Each session will start with an introduction from me about what we hope WOW will achieve, followed by an opportunity for discussion and debate. Tea and coffee will be provided and no preparation is required.

If you are interested, please RSVP to claire.mcdermott@cityofculture2013.com by 5pm on Wednesday June 26th 2013 indicating which of the sessions you would like to attend.

If you'd like any further information, please don't hesitate to get in touch with Claire. If there are individuals or groups that you'd like to bring to our attention, please let us know or do feel free to forward this email.

Overview of Women of the World Festival

To give you some more background, WOW is a festival where people of all ages and backgrounds can celebrate women's achievements but also examine the obstacles that prevent them from reaching their full potential and contributing to the world. The festival is bold and broad-based in its approach, both lively and serious, and feeds the demand to discuss anything and everything. It presents the very best of recognised and emerging female talent across all fields including politics, the arts, economics, fashion, science, health, sport, business and education. The festival is made up of keynote, talks, debates, performances, gigs, free music, a marketplace, speed-mentoring, a crèche, exhibitions, workshops, networking opportunities and much more.

WOW has presented amongst many others Annie Lennox, Liberia's Minister of Agriculture Florence Chenoweth, Cherie Blair, Patrick Stewart, Baroness Helena Kennedy QC, Joyti Mhapsekar, Shami Chakrabarti, Sinead O'Connor, Jocelyn Bell-Burnell and Laura Liswood, Secretary General of the Council of Women World Leaders and Senior Advisor at Goldman Sachs. We have presented talks from women on the frontline of the Arab revolution, fashion editors and historians on the history and joy of dressing up, to an under 10's feminist corner and economists talking about how global finance has a direct impact on women's lives.

We launched WOW in Baltimore-Washington in 2012 and Sydney in May 2013.

8 Appointments to Libraries NI

The Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure will shortly be advertising in the local press seeking applications from people interested in being a Board Member of Libraries NI.

There will be up to 8 Members appointed to the Board of Libraries NI. These posts are open to all currently elected local District Councillors and also to the members of the general public. The Department wishes to bring a strong skills mix particularly in the area of corporate governance and public accountability to its Ministerial appointments on all Boards of its sponsored bodies. Applications are therefore welcome from those with a strong corporate governance experience gained in the community or voluntary sector, public sector or private sector.

The Department is committed to the principle of public appointments based on merit with independent assessment, openness and transparency of process. The Department is also committed to equality of opportunity and welcomes applications from all suitably qualified people irrespective of religious belief, gender, disability, ethnic origin, political opinion, age, marital status, sexual orientation or whether or not they have dependants. We would particularly welcome applications from women, people from minority ethnic groups and people with a disability for these positions.

The formal advertisement will be placed in the Belfast Telegraph, Irish News and News Letter on 27 and 28 June 2013.

10 Calling All Young People! ~ We're MAD LOL, are you?

July 4th in St Columb's Hall

This summer, the Youth Justice Agency in partnership with various others are hosting a MAD LOL (Making a Difference; Loving Our Lives) event as part of the 2013 UK City of Culture celebrations show casing all the good that young people do within their own communities that rarely gets the recognition it deserves.

If you, like us, get frustrated with the all too negative portrayal of young people in today's media, here is a chance to redress that balance and help us to promote a more positive and accurate image of young people. Just register your group or individual young person for what promises to be a MAD LOL event and showcase all that they do to make this city a better place.

There are categories for:

Community involvement; cross community work; positive role modelling; overcoming adversity; inter generational work; community safety; active citizenship.

And showcasing can take the form of:

Posters; photographs; DVD's; written pieces

Or demonstrations using any medium for example:

Music; dance; sport; drama

So come along for what promises to be a fun filled day!

The event will finish with a Youth Achievement Awards Presentation Night with various special guests and prizes in all categories.

If you would like to register a group or individual, please contact Elaine at Elaine.harvey@doj.x.gsi.gov.uk to receive a registration form. For more information contact 028 7127 8070

11 Youth Congress for NI

Members of the Youth Forum launched their ambitious Youth Congress project at their regional Have Your Say Day at Stormont on the 24th June.

Young People vowed that they would set up their own representative model as they await the establishment of a Youth Assembly.

Chairperson Martin McAuley outlined how young people have called for a Youth Assembly to be established and hopes that a Youth Congress will help pave the way towards a young person's version of the region's democratic structure.

The Youth Forum are calling on Young People aged between 11 and 25, to come forward to sit on a Youth Congress which will be led by young people themselves and will act as a pilot for a Youth Assembly. It is the intention that once a NI Youth Assembly is set up the Youth Congress will be reviewed and stood down.

Youth Congress Purpose:

- To provide a youth led; democratic; representative voice for young people in Northern Ireland;
- To provide a mechanism whereby young people can raise and discuss issues of importance to them and bring directly to the attention of elected decision makers;
- To support young people to campaign and lobby on issues that are important to them on a regional, national and European basis.
- To provide a mechanism whereby government departments can seek the views of young people;
- 3 young people per electoral area (total of 54 young people) will be appointed via a process of nomination and selection.

Meetings to be held once per quarter in various locations around the North of Ireland.

Each meeting will take place during a day where young people will take part in workshops and issue based discussion; work on campaigns; and support local action.

To put yourself forward to the Youth Congress please visit www.niyf.org or apply online via: <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/V97MD5R>
